Chris Holloway, formerly of Tropical Shipping, has joined Metro Group Maritime.

Mr. Holloway brings over twenty-three years of ocean freight accounts receivable management experience to the firm, and will be an integral component of the 3rd party and 4th party services Metro Group Maritime provides.

“We’re very happy to have him aboard. Chris is the right fit for Metro Group Maritime, both from a company culture standpoint and from an experience perspective,” said Benjamin Kinberg, collections manager at Metro Group Maritime.

Valli Piedra, manager at Metro Group Maritime, is also excited to welcome Mr. Holloway to the firm. “He is knowledgeable, driven and an awesome team player,” she said.

Mr. Holloway is very excited to continue his career in the shipping industry, which has become “part of his soul.” “I look forward to working with such a diverse group of freight and shipping collections experts.” Metro Group Maritime consists of shipping industry veterans, financial professionals and lawyers.

Metro Group Maritime, headquartered in New York City, is a commercial receivable management, debt recovery and consulting company focused on the maritime and transportation industry.
