SDV Colombia Joins Extensive Worldwide Network

SDV is pleased to announce the creation of SDV Colombia. SDV Colombia joins the South American office network that already includes locations in Argentina (5), Brazil (9), Chile (2), and Uruguay (1).

"The Colombian economy is the fourth largest in Latin America and ranks third in population. Citing their recent GDP growth and ongoing economic reforms, we felt this was the opportune time to extend our service network," says Philippe LORTAL, SDV Regional Director - Hispanic America.

Colombia has the largest coal reserves in Latin America and is second to only Brazil in hydroelectric potential. Since 1986, Colombia exports oil after a discovery 120 miles east of Bogota. Oil and Gas and Mining are two of the largest industry verticals that SDV serves and has an extensive customer list worldwide.

"Our local know-how in the growing South American sectors of Oil & Gas, Mining, Aerospace and Healthcare coupled with our worldwide network will allow us to service companies that are looking for an international logistics partner," says Philippe LESCURAS, Managing Director of SDV Colombia.
