

King Alandy Dy CEO and Co-founder, Expedoc

King Alandy Dy is the CEO and Co-founder of Expedock, the AI-powered automation service behind some of the major players in the global supply chain.

He is at the forefront of a new generation of logisticians and leads a team that is driving a new approach to the benefits of supply chain technology and the optimization of global freight forwarding.

King is a former researcher from Stanford University and comes from a family in cross-border logistics. He ran an international import-export business while graduating from Stanford with an Engineering degree.

Expedock was backed by early investors at Facebook, Uber, Airbnb together with C-level executives, as well as board members from Salesforce, Visa, FICO and Morgan Stanley. Its international team has already transformed the existing process of large supply chain businesses like: CEVA, JUSDA USA and Roadrunner Transportation.